

SCJ Alliance gets more space for Seattle office

SCJ Alliance, a Lacey-based engineering firm, has moved its Seattle office into bigger space.

The Seattle office opened in 2017. Now, it has moved to the 1201 Third building, between Seneca and University streets in downtown Seattle, according to a news release.

The Seattle office has worked on the following projects: Magnolia Bridge and Ballard Bridge planning studies, congestion relief efforts on I-5 near Joint Base Lewis-McChord, and the state Route 520 Montlake to Washington interchange and bridge replacement project.

SCJ also has offices in Ballard, Gig Harbor, Centralia, Wenatchee, Spokane and Boulder, Colorado.

— ROLF BOONE